

Rzeszów-based IT company Asseco announced that it was concluding works on a product, which would enable voice-control over online banking services. In the future it could also be applied to...

Order subscription to read this article